day, but declined late in the foremoon and closed a nickel lower in sympathy with a similar decline in the eastern murkets A very unusual thing hap pened, and that was while provisions advanced materially hogs declined a nickel. The receipts were not heavy, and most of what was brought in was very common. Few of the bogs brought in were fair, while none could be considered good as theword is used in market quotations, There is still a demand and everything brought in was sold. None went east and none was kept over. It was nearly E p'clock before the market closed.

Drovers Talegram: A conversation Drovers Talegram: A conversation with a packing house man this morning brought out the fact that all of the packers who are interested in any way in the foreign trade in canned meats have exhausted their supplies through the heavy requirements of various wars. It is said that the biggest beef house in Kansas City had to decide orders last exhausted their supplies through the heavy requirements of various wars. It is said that the biggest beef house in Kansas City had to decline orders last week for canned beef of various kinds. Another house that was asked o fornish meats for one of the big armics was unable to do so, so nearly was its stock depleted, and it was unable to procure from any other packer the amount necessary to fill the order.
